Commission Cuts Electrical Rates as Promised

The Hope Water and Light Plant Commission yesterday voted to reduce electrical rates to residential customers effective July 1.

Overall reduction is a little more than five per cent and will average about 30¢ per customer per month. This gives Hope the cheapest rate in the state with the possible exception of Jonesboro which is also municipally owned.

This rate reduction fulfills a promise made by the Commission last fall when it decided to place the local power plant on a stand-by basis and purchase outside power cheaper than the city could produce it. Power is now purchased wholesale from Arkansas Power and Light Co.

Pollution Study of Red River Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee yesterday approved $75,000 for a pollution study of the Red River in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

The survey will be conducted by Army Engineers in cooperation with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which has $400,000 to spend on pollution studies on the Red and Arkansas rivers.

The same committee eliminated $500,000 recommended in President Eisenhower's budget for eradication of water hyacinths and other aquatic plants in southern rivers and streams.

Campaigns Start at Boys State

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Delegates to Boys State at nearby Camp Robinson were embroiled today in heated campaigning for state government offices.

A governor, secretary of state, etc., will be selected from delegates in balloting tomorrow. Tickets for the two political parties — National and Federalist — are being formed.

Results of Monday's election for county offices were announced yesterday. The mythical Boys State is divided into 12 counties.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus is scheduled to address the youths tomorrow immediately preceding organization of the Boys State Legislature.

Activity ends Friday with selection of two delegates to Boys Nation and a speech by Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett.

Rumors Russia May Announce 'Gold' Ruble

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top officials laughed off today rumors the Soviet Union might jolt Western trading countries by suddenly announcing a "gold ruble."

Such rumors have been flying through European money markets.

Most versions of the rumor say the Kremlin soon will decree that rubles now artificially pegged at four to the dollar will become freely convertible into gold on demand, at least in the satellite empire.

The U.S.S.R. has a big hoard of nine billion dollars in gold which could meet any run on gold which might develop, according to those reports.

The Soviet move would be part of a carefully calculated Kremlin drive, these rumors allege, to create a ruble bloc as a rival to the dollar bloc and the sterling bloc based on U.S. and British currencies.

Responsible authorities who have carefully checked into the rumor said they have seen no sign the Soviet Union is seriously contemplating any such drastic maneuver.

Several officials expressed the opinion any step to make rubles convertible into gold would be financially disastrous for Moscow.

The Soviet Union has never disclosed how much gold it has stored in its bank vaults. Nor has it ever revealed how much gold it mines annually.

But American experts said it is very likely the U.S.S.R. has less than half of the nine-billion dollar cache it is rumored to possess.

Any move by Moscow to make rubles convertible, they added, would probably swiftly exhaust available Soviet gold supplies.

Two Escape From Iowa State Prison

FORT MADISON, Iowa (AP) — Four long-term prisoners held at guard and a cellblock captain at a guard post and sawed their way out of the Iowa State Penitentiary early today.

The breakout came in cell house 19, which houses about 400 prisoners. The four who escaped had to drop less than 10 feet to the ground after cutting the opening in the window.

Warden John Bennett identified the four as Lloyd Woodson, 38, Quincy, Ill.; Albert M. Boerger, 25, Kansas City, Mo.; Elton G. Jones, 24, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; and Lawrence W. Smith, 33, night cell house captain, said he heard a noise on a walkway extending outside the cells, and saw James crawling along.

Smith said that was about 12:25 a. m. He pushed the alarm button. Almost simultaneously with James' escape from his cell on the second tier, Boerger got out of his in a different part of the cellblock and put a knife to the throat of guard Larry H. Pickard, 60. Then Woodson and Girdler came out of their cells, which also were widely separated from those of the other two convicts.

Bennett said each man had sawed two bars from their cells to get out onto the walkway. It was not immediately known where they got the saws, he said.

Smith said James held a long dagger on him and forced him to call the deputy outside the cellblock and say he had rubbed against the alarm button accidentally and that everything was all right.

Pickard was tied with twine and desk while the prisoners took turns holding a knife on him, he said.

The convicts began cutting the bars of an outside wall window while each 20 minutes according to prison procedure. Smith signalled that all was well inside the cellblock.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The hot delegates who will represent the Little Rock Conference of the Methodist Church to the Methodist General Conference at Denver in April, 1960, were elected yesterday.

They were chosen at the Little Rock Conference's 105th annual meeting at First Methodist Church here.

High Winds Lash Areas in Texas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — High wind and heavy rains poured out of a thunderstorm line over West Texas early today, forcing families to huddle in their homes in Snyder and flooding stores in Lubbock.

An unidentified man was reported injured in Snyder when high winds blew a trailer over on him.

Fire Chief B. A. Porter said Snyder fire and police units and Civil Defense workers were evacuating families from low-lying areas in the West Texas oil city.

In Lubbock, at least a dozen downtown stores reportedly suffered damage from water that poured in after an estimated two inches of rain fell.

U.S. Highway 84, connecting Lubbock and Clovis, N.M., was reported closed by high water about 20 miles northwest of Lubbock.

Several houses were reported uncrooked by high wind at Slaton, southeast of Lubbock. There were no reports of injuries there.

The Lubbock Weather Bureau measured an official 1.44 inch of rain, but unofficial measurements downtown were generally higher.

President Denies Intervening for Steel Companies

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today it is completely untrue that he has intervened in favor of the steel companies in their wage dispute with organized labor.

Eisenhower was asked at his news conference to reply to a charge by President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers that the President has moved to favor management in the steel wage negotiations now going on.

Eisenhower replied vigorously that this charge is completely untrue. He said he recalled that he had urged both sides in the steel dispute to exercise discipline or the country would be in a bad fix.

The President said he doesn't want to see the wage-price spiral continue and has urged management to keep its prices down. He would be delighted if prices could be reduced, Eisenhower added.

As far as favoring management is concerned, the President said he has very little interest in the relative few among the management and big capitalistic classes as compared with his interest in the working man.

But, the President went on, the working men must be careful not to do things that will hurt themselves.

In response to a question, Eisenhower said he does not think Congress should go home until it enacts some corrective labor legislation.

A reporter noted that AFL-CIO President George Meany and Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa had said Congress ought to shelve labor reform measures.

Eisenhower said he is disturbed by what seems to be the growing habit of some persons to accept the theories of Karl Marx that three ways will be bitter and implacable warfare between the man who works with his hands and the man who hires him.

Describing this as an un-American attitude, Eisenhower said he regards each worker, down to those doing the most menial tasks, as being just as important as any one in management or any capitalist.

English Derby Pays Winner $101,018

EPSOM, England (AP) — Sir Humphrey de Trafford's Parthia, a 10-1 shot, today won the 180th and richest running of the Epsom Derby.

G. A. Oldham's Fidalgo was second. There was a photo for third, between Baron Guy de Rothschild's Shantung and Aiy Khag St. Crespin III, with Shantung getting the decision.

Two American-owned entries, Mrs. P. A. B. Widener's Dan Cupid and Josephine Bny Paul's Arkav, failed to get in the money.

An Irish hospital's sweepstakes is based on the outcome of the race.

Parthia won the mile and a half race over a hard-baked turf course by a half-length. Fidalgo was another half-length ahead of Shantung. The running time was 2:36, compared with Mahmoud's record of 2:33.8.

Parthia and Fidalgo both started at 10-1 in the betting. Shantung was the 11-2 favorite and St. Crespin was 10-1.

The victory was worth $101,018 to owner Sir Humphrey. Second prize was $11,950 and third $5,975.

Parthia was ridden by jockey Harry Carr.

Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip were among the estimated 250,000 spectators who watched the race on a sunny day.

Carpenter and Others Called by Probers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A federal grand jury investigating the Alford-Hays congressional election convened today to hear testimony on alleged campaign irregularities.

Among witnesses subpoenaed was Claude Carpenter Jr., who resigned as an aide to Gov. Orval E. Faubus to manage the victorious write-in bid of Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark) last November.

Alford defeated former Rep. Brooks Hays, the Democratic nominee for the Fifth Congressional District post. An outspoken segregationist, Alford based his campaign on charges that Hays was too moderate on the racial issue.

Carpenter said he had been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury tomorrow morning.

"I don't know what they want me to testify about," Carpenter said. "I haven't done anything wrong."

The grand jury has been investigating the election, which Alford won by about 1,200 votes, for several months. The latest phase of the probe is believed to concern circulation of unsigned circulars showing Hays seated between two Negroes at a church convention.

"I never saw one of them (the circulars)," Carpenter said. "I don't even know that they were circulated."

Carpenter now serves Alford as a field representative in Little Rock.

Also under subpoena were Thomas C. Hoeksmith, head of the advertising agency which handled Alford's campaign; two Hoeksmith employees, Arnis Gulbridge, attorney for the Capital Citizens Council; Dewey J. Coffman, a Citizens Council member; and Mrs. Margaret Jackson, president of the segregationist Mothers League of Central High.

The jury also is expected to receive a report on a Federal Bureau of Investigation probe into alleged irregularities in the ballot boxes. The jury has the boxes under impoundment.

Medders to Attend Government Meet

PAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — Over 50 of Arkansas' outstanding citizens will arrive at Fayetteville Thursday (June 4) to begin a three-day conference dealing with the structure of state government.

The conference-called the Arkansas Assembly on State Government — is sponsored jointly by Columbia University's American Assembly and the University of Arkansas. City Manager Garland Medders of Hope will attend this conference.

The government announced destruction of one of the rebel planes and capture of arms and ammunition but denied the reports of clashes. There has been no announcement of casualties.

The government put on display 15 rifles, a machine gun and about 4,000 rounds of ammunition it said had been captured near the destroyed plane. The guns carried Costa Rican markings.

Nicaragua exiles in San Jose, Costa Rica, claimed four rebel groups had seized impregnable mountain positions between Santo Tomas, east of Lake Nicaragua, and Ma Mui, about 85 air miles northeast of the capital.

Sees Removal of Arkadelphia Dam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Oran Harris (D-Ark) predicted yesterday that Congress would approve planning funds for the proposed 31 million DeGrays Dam near Arkadelphia, Ark., this year although the House Appropriations Committee left the project out of its water recommendations.

Harris had asked for $150,000 in planning funds for the Caddo River Dam.

The congressman said the House committee's failure to act was due to a mixup in the Budget Bureau which twice rejected the project then said it would approve it if it went with funds already appropriated.

Engineers have not had time to determine whether enough funds are available for the project. Harris said. Then he predicted the bill in the Senate even if a new appropriation was necessary.

Pentecostal Meet Starts Tonight

A revival will start Wednesday night at First Pentecostal Church at 4th and Ferguson Streets. Service will begin each night at 7:30 with the Rev. Adeock doing the preaching. Everyone is invited by the Pastor, the Rev. B. W. Lane.

Bids Taken on Dam Construction

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An Austrian firm yesterday submitted an apparent low bid of $108,050 on a contract for construction of penstock gates and hoists for two units of the Bull Shoals Dam near Mountain Home.

Yost-Wagner-Brio of Linz, Donau, Austria, was the successful bidder as Army Engineers here considered 11 offers.

Engineers said bids on power transformers for the same two units would be opened today.

Nicaragua Asks Probe of Invasion

By JACK RUTLEDGE

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Luis Somoza denounced today's invasion of Nicaragua by Cuban forces, asking the Organization of American States for an investigation of the threat to his regime, one of Latin America's last three dictatorships.

The Foreign Ministry said Tuesday night it had learned that three schooners carrying revolutionaries and arms set out from Cuba for Nicaragua to support 70 or more rebels who landed by plane from Costa Rica over the weekend. The government didn't claim it had that group on the run.

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, asked in Havana about the report of invasion from his country, said he was too busy to answer "baseless charges."

Once a fiery advocate of aid to rebels against dictatorship, Castro has been denying he is aiding such movements since a Cuban-backed invasion of Panama backed-fired in April while the Cuban leader was trying to make friends in the United States.

Managua is calm, but troops on guard everywhere lend a tense atmosphere to the capital.

The government claims the situation is under control. Unconfirmed rumors circulated, however, of clashes in the provinces with the rebels who flew in from Costa Rica Sunday and Monday.

The government announced destruction of one of the rebel planes and capture of arms and ammunition but denied the reports of clashes. There has been no announcement of casualties.

The government put on display 15 rifles, a machine gun and about 4,000 rounds of ammunition it said had been captured near the destroyed plane. The guns carried Costa Rican markings.

Ad Litem

May 20, 27, June 3, 10, 1959

He had left for Lillani and her mother, and each of them received an enthusiastic kiss.

"Sam, how sweet of you," Bea cried excitedly.

Kathie was so full of emotion to express her feelings. She stood still, drawing in the heady tropical fragrance of the pale yellow and deep magenta blossoms, loving the salty caress of their petals against her skin, intoxicated by the color of the scene around her and the music and the excitement of the onlooker crowd which she felt to her bones.

Aside her, Alex said, "You make me wish I were seeing it for the first time!" he said.

Bea Powers, who overheard him, protested, "But it's always exciting, Alex."

"Not like Kathie is excited," Lillani said, laughing. "Look at her! She can't even wiggle."

Sam was being drawn away from them by friends who had come out on the official tug. He called back to them, "If I lose you, I'll see you at the hotel!"

"Are you going to be at the Poinciana, too?" Alex asked Kathie with an odd look.

"We'll all meet there, then," Lillani said. "Alex is coming to lunch with us. Aren't you, darling?"

"If I can get away from Grandfather," Alex said.

"He isn't meeting you?" Bea asked him.

Alex grinned one sidodly. "Grandfather? Not him. He seldom stirs from his hotel room these days. Does all his business by telephone."

Kathie went by the purser's office and picked up her deed. With it in her handbag again, she lost her feeling of security and began to feel uneasy. But she had conceived a plan. Her luggage would go on to the hotel without her. If she could escape the others and get ashore first, she would take a taxi and go directly to the Recorder's office and discover at once whether or not there was any value in her old deed.

She was ready to leave her stateroom when a steward approached her door. "A letter for you, Miss Ebberts," he said.

"A letter?" she exclaimed. A prickle of fear went through her. The steward was smiling broadly. "The tug brought some mail aboard."

She took the envelope and turned it over gingerly. Spurred, she recognized Buck Landers' large awkward scrawl, and she saw his return address up in the corner: "RFD3, LaBelle, California." It had been sent by air and was addressed to her in care of the ship at Honolulu.

She read: "Kathie:

"I'm sorry I was so stubborn. I should have talked to you again and maybe I could have made you see you was foolish to go, but you made me so darn mad. I wanted to tell you that if you will come back before you spend all your Uncle Job's money I will forget all about it and we can get married just as we planned. The pace hasn't been rented yet and I think the bank will let me have it, but we will need a couple horses and some cows. Also, I would like a few pies and chickens. So don't be throwing any more money away."

Kathie made a wry face. She had imagined herself in love with Buck because he was the only boy she had gone out with. Knowing mon like Alex Norris, and Sam Ward made Buck seem crude.

She thought with a shiver of how many times he would throw it up to her about spending her small inheritance on an expensive trip if she should weaken. The cave with which he had said: "Be fore you spend all your Uncle Job's money" reminded her that he was on record that she need not look for help if she came home penniless.

Slowly she tore the letter across, then tore the pieces again and again. When she had only a handful of tiny scraps, she went to her porthole and stuck her hand through and let them drift down into the sea.

She was burning her bridges behind her.

DOROTHY DIX

Lab. Technician Goofs
on Chemistry of Love

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I'm a girl of 23 with a wonderful job as a laboratory technician with a chemical outfit. I'm the only girl in my particular group, the others being married men. I was quite attracted to one of these men; the father of three children, and in a short time he let me know that my feeling was reciprocated, he's very easy to talk to and I confided all my personal trouble to him. We drifted into a closer relationship and soon were having a full-fledged affair. He wanted me to leave my job and get a divorce but begged me never to stop seeing him. I know I'm a sinner but I can't stop. I'm not even sure that I'm in love with the man but he has me under spell that I can't break. I go to work every day with good resolutions but one look at him, and I go weak all over. I've tried so hard to break up the affair but slip right back when he tells me of his love for me. — Poppy

DEAR POPPY: At least you have an original boy friend. He doesn't promise to get a divorce when "his most married" cheerers do. That doesn't even give you the excuse of hope. The easiest thing for you to do would be to run away from the situation. With your education and experience you could easily get a job far from home — and temptation. You might even try for a job overseas. A change of scenery, new interests, different work and friends would take your mind off a relationship that is sure to ruin you if you stay with it. Before you set off, however, you should get straightened out with your own conscience. Confer with your clergyman, who will show you the way to a better life. It is very difficult for some people to change a bad situation on a do-it-yourself basis. The Lord knows that, so he sent strong people into the world to help the weak. It's up to you to seek the help you need.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have a friend who makes plans with us and cancels them on very little notice. She will invite us to her house, call to say they can't have us, because the children are sick, then go out with another couple. Last week she asked us over for dinner, then she called and said they preferred to go dancing with another couple and asked if we wanted to join them. Other people have the same complaint about them. — Mrs. Y.

DEAR MRS. Y.: People with such outrageous manners don't deserve friends at all. You've been very patient to put up with them this long. Don't accept or extend invitations to them. Tell your ill-mannered friend that you don't relish the thought of being left high and dry at the last moment. Evidently she's a very spoiled person who is used to having things her own way, and her friends are contributing to this general illusion. Stop it and she'll reform.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Barry and I have been going together for seven months and the flame
